

The harbor off in the distance produces an ideal backdrop for this negative-edge enchanter. Sweeping lines lead the eye to the natural waterway, but the protective umbrellas keep swimmers contentedly in place.

Reminiscent of an ancient gateway, the stately poolhouse acts as a portal to another time—one where every beck and call is heeded. Classic in design, the pool's dark finish doubles as a mirror for the setting's ethereal views.

Tradition of Customer Service

As one of the premiere pool builders in the Northeast, The Rizzo Construction Pool Company enjoys a long tradition of excellence in custom pool design and installation. New England's craggy hillsides and forested knolls lend themselves to the company's natural designs, many of which include spectacular spas and extravagant water features. Stone decks and muted hues help create the illusion of centuries-old ponds.

In addition to natural pools, The Rizzo Construction Pool Company specializes in contemporary designs and indoor aquatic retreats. Indoor pools require special considerations, and The Rizzo Construction Pool Company uses state-of-the-art technologies to create energy-efficient, year-round pool environments that remove moisture and heat from the air and add the resulting water into the pools.

"Each pool has its own personality," says company president Albert Rizzo, Jr. "Indoor pools, with their contemporary water features and lighter colors, stand in sharp contrast to what we typically do outside."

The company works closely with homeowners to choose building materials that complement the home's interior design and architecture. Rizzo's designers listen carefully to customers' desires and how they plan to use their pools. Using computer-aided design software, the company inserts a photo of the home into illustrated drawings, giving homeowners a preview of their new addition.

This close attention to detail has not gone unrecognized, as the company has won numerous awards for its design and engineering feats.

According to the firm's tally, in recent years, The Rizzo Construction Pool Company has collected more honors than all other area pool builders combined. In 2005, Hartford Magazine named the company the Best Pool/Hot Tub Retailer in Connecticut.

Albert Rizzo, Jr., is a founding member of the Builders Council, part of the Association of Pool & Spa Professionals, and is chairman of its education committee. He also served as the first and is the current presiding president of the Connecticut Swimming Pool Association. ♦
